Sample jars are batched along with our pint jars and one-gallon buckets during regular production. Sometimes the inventory on the samples will be sold much faster than the larger sizes, particularly with a new glaze, and can lead to short-term outages of a sample size. We do not shelve the sample jars, so please call/email at least 24 hours ahead of pickup so that we can prepare your order.

- SMC glazes work best on SMC clays that have been bisqued to cone 04. If you are applying them to clays bisque-fired to cone 05-06, you may want to thin SMC glazes very slightly with warm water
- Most SMC glazes are ideal for both electric and gas firing
- SMC recommends applying your glaze to the thickness of a matchbook cover, typically 2-3 brushed, or 1-dipped, coats
- Glaze consistency should be thinner for dipping than brushing, even thinner for pouring
- SMC stocks only pints and 1 GAL buckets. 10# dry batches and 5 GAL buckets must be ordered 2-3 business days in advance
- Because dry glazes are not a complete product, SMC does not guarantee the final fired performance of any dry glazes. They are hand-batched to order (to discourage settling of ingredients)

*Quantity gallon discounts are applicable when you purchase 3 or more 1 GAL buckets of the same glaze in a single sale. The 1 GAL buckets are typically more cost-effective to ship than a 5 GAL bucket. 3 GAL buckets also available. Call for details.
